*Nothing in this guide should be construed as legal advice. Most firms call this sort of thing advertising. That would be silly since none of us at Rockridge have any advertising chops whatsoever. Rather, we're a mission-minded firm that wants to help grow the benefit corporation model and, sure, we'd love it if we could work with impactful companies all day long. So in typical legal disclaimer lingo, we're not your lawyers and don't believe anything you read here. It also could be super dangerous, particularly if you're reading this while riding on a scooter or drinking matcha.
